Call For Work Over Five-Year Period

City Council Asked to Authorize $5,000,000 Road-Paving Program

Request that the city appropriate and expend during the next five years at least $5,000,000, exclusive of charges to the street railway department on road paving and following this five-year period, improve its roads continuously on a major development plan, was made by the Civic Interests Committee of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce at Monday night's Council meeting.

IN A BRIEF submitted to city council by E. T. Love on behalf of the committee, it was stated that practically all the $5,000,000 proposed expenditures for the next five years could be financed within the present mill rate tax structure. The committee, the brief stated, is of the opinion that considering the city's road program is so far behind, and that the wear and tear on the city's roads during the past 10 years has been below what it should have been, and can only be caught up through the inclusion of the proposed plan.

EVERY PERSON or company operating a car, truck or a wagon over city streets is suffering unduly from wear, tear and breakage and also through the excessive use of gasoline in the operation of cars and trucks, the brief stated. It was asserted that good roads are fundamental to the well-being of the city.

Government View

U. S. More Optimistic Mine Strike Accord

By RAYMOND LAHR
Exclusive To The Edmonton Bulletin

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(BUP)—U.S. government officials took a more optimistic view toward the soft coal wage negotiations today despite the industry's frosty reception of John L. Lewis' $70,000,000 welfare fund proposal.

Although management representatives failed to share the optimism, they hoped and expected that Lewis would unveil the United Mine Workers' specific wage demands today and thus remove the uncertainty that has hung over the negotiations for two months.

Signs of encouragement shown by government officials were attributed to the fact that at last a break had developed in the conferences yesterday.

In an effort to break a long dead-end, the mine operators agreed yesterday to pay approximately $30,000,000 in disputed overtime claims. Lewis accepted for the time being and then began a recital of the union's specific demands.

HE FIRST JARRED the operators by asking that they finance a union welfare fund by contributing an amount equal to seven percent of the gross payroll, as much as the industry's annual payroll is approximately $1,000,000,000. A seven percent assessment would raise about $70,000,000. Under Lewis plan, there would be no employment of veterans.

Spokesman for the operators had no formal comment but their disapproval was evident. One representative later described the proposal as a "ridiculous pipe dream" which was "completely outside the bounds of reason." Another termed it "exorbitant."

Vancouver Man Survives Shock 34,000 Volts

—FRED FERAND, 26-year-old veteran, lived through an electric shock Sunday which was 15 times more powerful than the current used in an electric chair.

A 34,000-volt electric charge struck him while he was repairing an aerial on the roof of his home when he threw a wire across to the roof of a nearby building where it caught on a high tension wire.

The shock hurled Ferand across the roof, ripped a shoe from his foot and started a fire in a nearby house.

He was given inhalator treatment by firemen and taken to hospital suffering from burns on his arms, side, legs and feet. His condition is reported as "fairly good."

Doctors say the fact that the aerial was grounded probably saved Ferand's life.

Govt. Subsidy Urged For Home - Renters

VANCOUVER, May 14.—Sixty-three per cent of Vancouver wage-earners are only able to pay $25 or less per month for shelter, and therefore they are completely unable to consider buying new wartime houses or to rent decent houses at today's rates. This is the finding of the Vancouver Housing Association in its "Housing Vancouver" survey, released during the week-end.

THE ASSOCIATION, a member agency of the Welfare Council of Greater Vancouver, recommends a subsidy, suggested at $10 per month, to assist citizens in paying low-rental houses program.

The subsidy would be paid by the federal government, on condition that a proportionate contribution was made either by the municipality or the province.

Many phases of the city's inadequate housing situation and the consequent expansion of slums, are dealt with in the exhaustive 37-page report.

THE ASSOCIATION finds a shortage of about 6,000 houses in the city. In order to eliminate this shortage, it says, and to take care of normal growth, approximately 3,500 houses a year will be required for the next 10 years. At least one-third of these should be low-rental housing.

Young Gunman Takes Taxicab

An intensive search was being made Tuesday by both RCMP and city police for a young gunman who held up a taxicab driver, Jerry Haskaly, 10184 88 street, about one mile north of St. Albert at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday and stole the cab.

HALISKY, a driver for Black and White Cabs, told police that a man came to the firm's office at 88 street and Jasper avenue shortly before midnight Monday and asked to be driven to St. Albert. On arrival, he told the driver to proceed along the highway for about one mile, then told the driver to stop and inquired about the fare.

The passenger then turned out the taxi's lights as the car approached and passed, then switched them on, turned the cab around and drove off in the direction of Edmonton.

HALISKY HAD to walk a mile into St. Albert, where he contacted the RCMP detachment. City police were immediately notified and prowler cars sped to cover approach to the city from St. Albert, but no sign of the stolen cab was found.

Search for the wanted man swung towards the Stony Plain district Tuesday as RCMP authorities reported that the stolen car had been recovered there about the noon hour. There was no sign of the gunman.

The wanted man is described as about 20 years of age, of Indian extraction, slim build, thin face, wearing a fawn colored windbreaker and dark pants.

Mr. KING'S LETTER referred to the fact that the Canadian government was concerned.

"There was, of course, no thought in my mind of rebuke or complaint about lack of consultation with Canada," Mr. King said. He explained that Mr. Atlee's statement May 8, in the British House, gave a satisfactory account of the malcontent in the Egyptian government was concerned.

New Points Are Outlined By Minister

OTTAWA, May 14.—(CP)—Veterans Minister Mackenzie announced today at a session of the Commons veterans committee that the government has accepted the principle that pensions may be granted for disability or death incurred on service either at home or abroad.

Previously, the principle applied only to personnel of service outside Canada.

The committee unanimously endorsed a motion by David Croft 1—Toronto Spadina—that the insurance principle be restored by order-in-council rather than await the prolonged process of parliamentary approval. The sooner the legislation was passed the sooner the payments would start to the men requiring pensions.

Mr. Mackenzie said the order-in-council would be passed, but the new provision would not be retroactive as to payments. There were 4,000 cases in this category.

THE TERM "insurance principle" means "full coverage against injury

Gives Testimony Russian on Stand In Espionage Trial

OTTAWA, May 14.—(CP)—The crown called Igor Gouzenko, former Russian embassy cipher clerk, to the witness stand today in the espionage trial of Edward Mazerall.

The justice is proceeding before Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario Supreme Court and a jury of 12 men.

THE USUAL GROUP of police bodyguards accompanied the 26-year-old Russian.

Mazerall faces a charge of conspiring to break the official secret of 1939. It was established this morning that he had taken an oath of secrecy at a 30 years research council engineer and that a calendar pad found in his office by police had several names, including "Gordon L." and a phone number 9-7621.

Gordon Lunan, alleged "head" of a cell of agents, is named on the Mazerall indictment as one of those with whom he conspired.

GOUZENKO'S EARLY evidence was now familiar evidence as to his background. He said he held the rank of sergeant.

Planes Will Carry Money For Indians

The airplane will expedite annual payment of treaty money to the Indian population in the far north.

McCRIMMON, of the department of Indian Affairs, Ottawa, was in Edmonton recently making arrangements with C.P. Air Lines officials for touring the northward for payment of the treaty money.

McCrिमmon, accompanied by Dr. E. L. Storie, superintendent of the Indian hospital on the Jesuit College site here, plans to leave for the north by plane on May 15.

On June 20 they plan to leave Edmonton for Yellowknife, where a special plane will be chartered by the party.

Fort Rae, Snowdrift and all Hudson Bay Company posts on the north shore of Great Slave Lake will be visited and then the party will head north down the Mackenzie river with stops scheduled at many points before the flight reaches the northern terminus at Atkasvik in the Arctic.

The treaty-paying aerial jaunt will conclude with flight to Fort Laird on the Fort Nelson winding up on July 13.

THE INDIANS have been instructed to congregate at certain points on certain dates.

In addition to receiving the annual treaty money all natives will be examined medically by Dr. Storie and members of his medical party who will accompany Mr. McCrimmon.

Many tribes will participate in the annual payments.

Garson

tax suspension was granted, but to the jungle of uncertainty of the 1930's.

THE LONG-TERM results of the Garson plan would be "even more calamitous," Mr. Garson predicted. "In today's world we may be able to get through the present economic difficulties, and that Canadian citizens will seek government assistance to help them through the stress caused by economic deadlock, or to break up that deadlock it."

The nature of the deadlock was that failing a new tax structure in Manitoba, a majority of the province would find it impossible to carry out their constitutional responsibilities, while they had the power to check the money. On the other hand, the Dominion could not act either in providing all necessary services, because it had the money and not the power.

THIS TRUTH WILL appear as a shameful dodging of responsibility by both provincial and Dominion governments, and therefore not merely as a defect in our federal system of government, but as a major shortcoming of free democratic government itself.

"The enemies of democracy themselves could not devise an argument against it. More precisely, it was the pre-war condition of governmental paralysis and frustration which we will restore and perpetuate if we provide nothing to replace the expiring wartime tax suspension agreements and thereby leave the Canadian provinces in the relationship with the Dominion government which proved as unsatisfactory and inadequate in the 1930's."

SAYS ONTARIO READY TO RESUME PAYMENT

ONTARIO, May 14.—(CP)—Premier Drew of Ontario today proclaimed his government's willingness to resume the monthly provincial conference and accused Premier Garson of Manitoba of "prevaricating."

IN AN ADDRESS prepared for delivery to the Progressive Conservative Manitoba Meeting, the premier asserted Ontario will not be a party to the confused and "unjust system of multiple taxation" proposed by the Dominion. But he added that agreement can be reached between the Dominion and provinces and his government is eagerly awaiting the call for its resumption.

He referred to a statement by Premier Garson that "it is calamitous for Canada that the Ontario and Quebec governments could not have continued with those of the other seven provinces in the negotiation of a compromise" and declared:

"THE IMPRESSION conveyed by those words of the premier of Manitoba is without foundation. The Ontario government continued at all times to use the necessity for agreement."

The conference was not at an end, he said, and it was adjourned at the call of the Dominion government and "the government of the province has the right to expect that the conference will be reconvened when the Dominion government has the courage to try to consider the matter further."

There had been an effort to conceal the impression that the provinces but Ontario and Quebec were ready to sign an agreement with the Dominion on the latter's terms.

"THAT IS UNTRUE. Several provinces were quite as emphatic in asserting the very principle that Ontario put forward and there was no indication they had any intention of abandoning their position."

as directed by the National Employment Service, preferring to support a thin living from unemployment insurance and family allowances.

THE ABUSE has been widespread across Canada hampering agriculture in the west and handicapping mining and lumbering in the north.

Most flagrant case of this "cheating" on unemployment insurance has come to light in the 40 carpenters directed by the National Employment Service to a job outside the city, not one returned for work.

It was understood that in future the employment service when notified by a man to a job, will require him to report back and give a satisfactory explanation if he does not accept it.

SOME EMPLOYMENT service officers already have followed this policy, but now the Unemployment Insurance Commission, together with the Labor Department is to make it the rule for all bureaus.

If it is found that the job available is "actually unsatisfactory" on grounds that the man could not accept, the man will be paid unemployment insurance and directed to other work. If, however, he has not bothered to report on a job, or refuses the work on the grounds that it does not pay the scale to which he has become "accustomed" in the wage-inflated years of the war, he will be cut immediately from the unemployment insurance rolls.

FOR MONTHS, the tax-payer has seen the over-consumption of the department reports of there being thousands of unemployed, while at the same time thousands of jobs have been available.

From here on in, the labor department in the interim, by offering tax-payer propose to call a halt to such nonsense.

Ice Jams Tie Up Northern Vessels

Ice jams following the spring break-up on Lake St. Lawrence have tied up barges of mining companies and other northern concerns, it was reported Tuesday by officials of the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines and Resources.

THE BARGES, which will proceed to Waterways when the waters are cleared, are used to carry equipment and supplies and other freight for the companies and residents in the area.

The ice filled waters of the north have likewise retarded the flying of pontoon equipped planes, it was stated.

Availability of materials for increasing accommodation for working personnel continues at a low ebb, and this among other factors is slowing up demand for workers skilled in the mining trades and prospecting.

L. E. DRUMMOND, secretary-manager, stated that the requirements of prospective employees for mining and prospecting are chiefly on experience and a knowledge of the conditions and climate of the north, and that the present time calls for help were at a very low minimum.

Recently appointed to conduct the personnel division of the mines chamber was J. Armstrong, recently an officer with the RCAF, and a former private pilot who has covered much of the northern territory.

MR. WEIR STATED that the directorate of the War Services Council had been dissolved and that its affairs would be administered by an executive committee consisting of Mr. Weir, its chairman, G. H. Linney, M. C. McCann, W. J. A. Mustard and Mrs. M. Andrews.

Mr. Vaughan estimated traffic for the first five months of this year would be $200,000 below last year.

"TRAFFIC VOLUME is now falling. In the month of April our receipts were down $424,000 or 12 per cent. Our May budget forecasts a decrease for that month of $1,710,000 or 14 per cent."

"It is difficult to estimate how far the reduction in revenues will be, but it is certain that the government will have to recover. Our 1946 budget forecasts a decrease of $487,000 or 11 per cent. For the first four months of the year the decrease has been nine per cent. Our difficulty is that we cannot pull expenses down as much or as quickly as the drop in revenues."

War Services Body Hands Over Duties

All control of hospital visiting and entertainment for convalescent servicemen and ex-servicemen, administered by the War Services Council of Northern Alberta, has been handed over to the Citizens Rehabilitation Council of Edmonton, it was announced today by Harold L. Weir, chairman of the new council.

THE REHABILITATION group will take over, as well, all welcome home functions previously carried out by the War Services Council.

This transfer of authority carries with it the entire voluntary personnel work of the Rehabilitation Council, which will provide funds for the continuance of hospital visiting and entertainment under the new control.

"The War Services Council," said Mr. Weir, "was set up primarily to deal with troops in training, hospital visiting and entertainment far more properly now under rehabilitation control. The changes may be administered with greater facility by a body which functions under the Department of Veterans Affairs."

The War Services Council will continue, with a contracted organization, to administer the hospital in this area, the terms of the War Charities Act have been widened or legal control of the present time calls for help were at a very low minimum.

Recently appointed to conduct the personnel division of the mines chamber was J. Armstrong, recently an officer with the RCAF, and a former private pilot who has covered much of the northern territory.

rank of lieutenant when he came down as chief clerk to the military attaché, Col. Nicolai.

He told the court of 25 "more or less active" agents who worked in Canada under Zabolov in gathering information for Russia. There were possibly 10 or 12 other agents who were less active.

Gouzenko testified the agents sought information on politics, Canadian foreign relations, military affairs, the forces, war industry, technical and scientific research, and in Canada, the United States and Britain.

THIS MILITARY intelligence system was organized in 1942, according to counsel R. A. Hughes, objected that Gouzenko had not come forward until 1945. The chief justice instructed the witness to relate only direct knowledge.

Gouzenko said documents in the hands of Canadian authorities which would back his statements.

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, May 13.—(CP)—Four men charged with disclosing state secrets to a foreign power today pleaded guilty to charges of conspiring to break the official secrets act of 1939.

The charges were laid before Chief Justice J. C. McKeen in the Ontario Supreme Court.

A FIFTH ACCUSED—Capt. Gordon Lundy, 30, Scottish-born, pleaded head of a cell of agents—elected speedily trial before a county court judge, pleaded not guilty.

Those who pleaded before the chief justice were:

Edward Wilfred Mazerall, 30, native of Fredericton and former naval officer, charged with espionage.

James Scotland, 38, and Harold Samuel Garson, 43, brothers-in-law and both former munitions department experts.

Eric Adams, industrial development bank official, and Sgt. L. W. Poland, RCAF, officer on loan to the Canadian information service will be arraigned later.

Mazerall was committed on a conspiracy charge.

Mazerall's lawyer, Royden A. Hughes, argued for hours on a number of motions to be placed before the chief justice.

The bench rejected, first, a motion for a change of venue or adjournment, and then a motion that the accused would get an "impartial" trial in this country despite Mr. Hughes contention that widespread and adverse publicity had ruled out such a chance.

It is interesting to an argument for quashing the indictment charging Mazerall with three offences, the chief justice suggested that a conspiracy charge be heard separately while he withheld judgment in the others.

To another argument for more particulars of the scope and object of the conspiracy charge, he directed crown counsel J. R. Cartwright to put in writing for the defence an oral outline he gave as to what the crown would try to prove.

Had Colorful Career

Canada Hobo King Dies

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont., May 14.—(CP)—Charles Pearce, self-styled King of Canadian Hobos, is dead. One of the Dominion's most interesting characters, his death came in hospital in this Muskoka district town, some 90 miles north of Toronto, after an illness of two weeks.

KING CHARLIE was born in Brixton, England—just when, he never would say precisely, although he remarked on many occasions "I believe I'm about 104 years old." By his own account, he spent 78 years in Canada, 67 of them as a knight of the road.

He was an inveterate collector of medals, convention buttons and newspaper clippings of his own strange career.

A tramp, and proud of it, Pearce had regular parties of call on his travels. He was a frequent sight in newsprint offices where he often had something unusual to offer in the way of an interview.

AT TIMES he would be campaigning for the premiership of Canada or organizing a convention of his hobo subjects or planning to "attend" an inquest of William Lyon Mackenzie King. In earlier years, one of his bitterest rivals was George Graham, a rival claimant to the hobo throne.

He always succeeded in clinging to the dignity of his adopted title and demanded—and received—a show of respect from his interviewers. Even in jail, to which he was frequently committed on vagrancy charges—he demanded honor and homage.

ONE OF HIS favorite themes was that he was persistently sought as a dishwash by admiring women. But he always insisted that any woman aspiring to become his queen must bring with her a dowry of at least $10,000. He claimed to have received and rejected two such offers in his declining years constantly expressed the fear that "the girls will get me yet."

Britain Dissatisfied

LONDON, May 14.—(BUP)—The foreign office disclosed today that the British government is notifying Spain of its dissatisfaction with the measures taken by the Franco regime to deport "obnoxious" Germans from that country.

A FOREIGN OFFICE spokesman said the British ambassador in Madrid, Sir Victor Mallet, had been instructed to inform the government of Gen. Francisco Franco that Britain is not satisfied with Spain's handling of Nazis there.

The spokesman called attention to a recent statement in which the Spanish government said it had fulfilled its obligations with respect to the removal of German refugees from Germany and dealing with German assets in Spain.

Sir Victor Mallet has been instructed to inform the Spanish government that the measures taken have not been in accordance with the requirements of the "Salamanca" agreement, the commentator said.

There are an estimated 2,200 to 2,500 Germans in Spain that Britain considers "obnoxious," the spokesman said.

"WE ARE DEMANDING that steps be taken to bring about their return to Germany," he added.

Mr. Mallet did the instructions sent to Mallet did not deal with the questions of German assets, and he had no authority to discuss the next step on this phase of the problem.

Commence Classes For War Brides

Household economics classes for British war brides will be conducted each Friday evening in the MacKay Avenue building, between 104 and 106 street, at 7:30 p.m. It was announced Tuesday by A. Storm of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council.

Mr. Storm said, "It will be to the advantage of these women to attend not only the household economics classes, but also to meet many of their own countrywomen."

The classes will be under the guidance of Miss B. L. Williams, supervisor of the household economics classes, and will be held in the basement of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council.

Guest artists will also be featured on the program. The committee in charge of the United Church of Canada, including Messrs. J. R. Cartwright, C. E. Dike, Betty Moon and Jean Hephworth, Edmonton residents, are sponsoring a dance which is to be held in the Masonic Temple on June 3.

Appoint Commons Committee To Study Plight of Indians

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, May 14.—(CP)—Resources Minister Glen held out in the Commons yesterday the hope that ultimately the Canadian Indian will be able to assume the "full rights and responsibilities" of democratic citizenship while retaining and developing many of his native characteristics.

MR. GLEN SPOKE in moving a government resolution for the establishment of a joint senate-commons committee to study the Indian Act and recommend changes to improve the lot of the red man. The committee will include 22 members of the Commons.

The House adopted the motion. Mr. Glen said it would appear that Canada had reached a stage in her development as a nation when economic conditions forced her to do one of two things:

1. Purchase of public expense the additional lands and additional hunting and trapping rights for an Indian population of 225,000, increasing at a rate of 1,500 a year.

2. Decide on an educational and welfare program, not only in hunting and trapping, that would fit the Indians to enter into competition with the white man not only in hunting and trapping but in agriculture and in the industrial life of the nation.

HE ADDED: "While I have no desire to indulge in oversimplification, while I realize that there are many issues involved in the proposal before us, nevertheless I feel that we have here the crux of what is usually referred to as the Indian problem."

"I find it difficult to convince myself that an extending of the Indian reserve system, imposing controls and hardships and reducing Indian responsibility to the minimum, would be or could be in the interests of these people."

The educational and welfare program to which I have referred cannot, in the nature of things, accomplish much of the work which should be aimed at making the Indian into a white man.

"The Indian Act, as it should retain and develop many of his native characteristics and should ultimately assume the full rights and responsibilities of democratic citizenship."

MR. GLEN SAID those who do not wish to remain under Indian status may upon their own application if found qualified, be enfranchised by the government and cease to be Indians under the law and acquire full citizenship. Many Indians were taking advantage of that provision.

G. H. Castleden (CCF—Yorkton) said the way Indians had been treated in Canada was a "monument of disgrace." Those who were charged with the care and treatment of Indians. Health conditions among the Indians were terrible. Economic conditions were deplorable.

The exploitation of Indians was still going on in northern Canada. This made the Indian suspicious of the white man.

He felt Indians should be represented on the committee by men from their own tribes. They would be able to give advice and prevent mistakes from being made.

He asked that special attention be given to education among Indians. Citizenship should not be forced on them and they should be able to become citizens and still retain their treaty rights.

HEALTH MINISTER Claxton took exception to Mr. Castleden's statement that the infantile mortality rate was as high as 50 percent in some areas.

Mr. Claxton said that in a given area two children might be born and one of them die within a year. That would give a 50 percent rate. However, the rate for all Indians was about one-seventh of one percent.

The health of Indians now was under health department jurisdiction and improvements were being made. He said consideration was being given to the building of a hospital on the shore of James Bay.

J. E. Matthews (L—Brandon) said he felt the resolution would do much to help the Indian. There were two residential schools in his riding. It was reported that after leaving school the Indian boys and girls returned to their reserves and fell into the old way of life.

THIS WAS TRUE in a good many cases, but almost invariably they staged a comeback.

Mrs. Gladys Strum (CCF—Qu'Appelle) said a good many of the Indians who succeeded professionally had left Canada. She felt efforts should be made to bring them back.

House Debate

the question with other members of the government. "May I say to my honorable friend (Mr. Diefenbaker)," said Mr. Mackenzie, "that the place for that is not in connection with this bill, the place for that is in those terms which may be brought to reality in a year or so from now, terms which would contain a joint declaration of this parliament and sent, if necessary, for such comment as might be made upon them to the provinces of Canada."

MR. MACKENZIE, a native Scotsman, said that as one who was born and bred where freedom had to be fought for he had heard "with some cynicism the nonsense that has been talked in this house about Magna Carta and the Bill of Rights."

The Scots had had to fight many a time for their rights and "very existence." "This despite all the great charters and rights which you prize so highly in this Canada, a country largely made up of those who loved freedom who came from Scotland."

Human rights, political rights and economic rights could not be defined by charter. Basically and fundamentally there were the soul and spirit of man. Canadians had had to fight for their rights and they still were fighting for them today.

Mr. Mackenzie referred to "that piece of futile and fabulous showmanship" of the late Premier Aherhart of Alberta "who attempted to deprive men of the right of turn on proper investment in the province"—a statement he later withdrew upon objection from Mr. Lougheed.

THE SOCIAL CREDIT leader said there had been a gradual decline in personal liberties and an increase in the power of the state over the last 16 years. That period embraced the "economic" and the "military" was since 1930. There had been a decline in human values, with growing disregard for human suffering and estimation. Such a decline called for a new Bill of Rights.

In Britain, Magna Carta, Habeas Corpus and the Bill of Rights had been the "natural outgrowth" of something already in existence. The development should be the same in Canada.

David Croll (L—Toronto) Spadina cited the case of a man who had been in a Toronto hospital for 18 months. The man's wife was told by the hospital authorities "did not like being waited on by a Jew."

People needed education in citizenship, he said. "I THINK it is important that we have a book of laws which will protect people not from other people, but from governments."

Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver East) said he believed Mr. Diefenbaker recognized the shortcomings of the amendment.

Mr. MacInnis said he was in favor of a Bill of Rights, but not incorporated in another bill. A Bill of Rights would be of little use unless "we are willing to protect" these rights.

Labor Minister Mitchell said he agreed with Mr. MacInnis. Rather than a Bill of Rights, he preferred a "Bill of Responsibilities."

THERE WAS TOO MUCH talk of rights without thought as to responsibilities which went with them. Mr. Mitchell said he was opposed to putting the Bill of Rights down on paper. It could much better be done by education and understanding.

Referring to the spy probe, Mr. Mitchell said he never thought he wanted to live to see the day when Canadians would have to be charged with such an offence.

The freedom that existed in Canada today compared very favorably with that of any country in the world.

William Irvine (CCF—Carleton Place) said he was in "full agreement" with the sentiment of the amendment, although he would prefer to see a Bill of Rights as such.

Replying to John Hackett (PC—Stantead), Mr. Martin said that in the bill the government decided to give women citizenship in their own right.

"DO YOU MEAN to say that you think that a woman who is a Canadian citizen should be given the right to vote?" Mr. Hackett asked.

Mr. Hackett said he was objecting to it because it was a departure from the age old practice of a woman taking the nationality of her husband. It would bring dual nationality into the home where there should be unity and partnership after marriage.

Mr. Martin said the government's view was that in this day and age women, entitled as they were to sit in parliament and take an active part in public life, surely had a right to citizenship.

Tom Reid (L—Westminster) moved an amendment to provide for loss of citizenship of any citizen who acknowledged the citizenship of another country while residing in Canada.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver South) said there had been cases of Russians in Canada who, though not Canadian citizens, had applied to the Soviet embassy for Soviet citizenship. They were formerly residents of territory now within the Soviet Union.

HE SAID THAT where persons acknowledged another citizenship, as had been done by Japanese in Canada, there should be provision for loss of Canadian citizenship and Mr. Martin should consider a provision to cover those who make acknowledgement of another citizenship.

Mr. Martin said one of the things the government was doing was to try to avoid "statelessness." The word "acknowledgment" would not meet the point. As it now stood, the section was virtually the same as that in the nationality laws of all commonwealth nations.

a city, and also that dirt roads, and the general conditions of the streets, was a contributing factor to the uncleanliness of the city.

It was claimed that Edmonton has only one-third to one-half as many miles of hard-surfaced roads as 900 other cities on the North American continent, with about the same population.

THE BRIEF QUOTED figures taken from a survey made by the Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa, on the comparative costs of driving a car over pavement, gravel and dirt roads. This survey was made in 1939.

The survey showed that the average cost of gasoline, oil, tires and maintenance for the year was 1.50 cents per vehicle mile on pavement; 2.50 cents on gravel, and 3.14 cents on earth roads.

The brief pointed out that there were 10,806 licenses issued to car owners in 1945, and estimated there would be approximately 11,000 in 1946.

ESTIMATING THAT these 11,000 cars will travel over 5,000 miles annually, 3,000 of which would be over city roads, for a total of 33,000,000 miles, the brief pointed out that on the basis of the Iowa State College report, car owners would today suffer to the extent of $330,000 annually because of the lack of paved roads in the city.

It was pointed out also that the extra cost to the 3,000 truck owners in the city would be approximately $140,000 annually, for a total of $470,000 annually, the estimated sum of money car and truck owners of the city pay because of the bad condition of the city's roads.

THE BRIEF suggested that the $850,000 might be apportioned on the basis of $30,000 for arterial and semi-arterial highways, and $2,000,000 for local improvements. It was suggested also that local improvement work be done by contract, and that to reduce cost this work be a minimum, that the sections of streets and avenues be done a time, not just a block here and there.

It was suggested also that in connection with local improvements construction, that serious consideration be given to an educational campaign to obtain the necessary applications for these improvements, and to develop civic pride.

THE BRIEF SUGGESTS that many worthy organizations in the city would be glad to co-operate in this important phase of the city's highway development.

Dealing with priority of work the brief suggested that the city should first of all assist homeless people to obtain houses; then improve its roads, and assist new industries and old to get established and employ more people. It was suggested also that the city should delay major building projects until at least the first three classes of work are well under way.

It was urged that the present roads be kept in as good condition as possible, and that the proposed road program through more frequent grading of earth and gravel roads, and by frequent patching of hard-surfaced roads.

THE BRIEF STATED that "it was with a great deal of satisfaction that the city should have the aid of the press Mayor Harry Ainlay's statement that the city plans to spend $300,000 on the city's roads during the next five years."

The brief was referred to the city commissioners for study and report.

Deny Suggestion Rows Over Meyer

DORCHESTER, N.B., May 14.—(CP)—Rumors that the presence of Nazi Maj. Gen. Kurt Meyer in Dorchester penitentiary stirred up in the prison were dismissed as unfounded by an authoritative source last night.

Transportation Canada denied reports that additional guards and police have been detailed to the prison, and that Meyer is kept under special guard away from other prisoners and eats privately prepared food.

He was reportedly taken to Dorchester after reaching Canada aboard the Aquitania, the war criminal having been in the penitentiary since May 1.

Prospector Hits Jackpot

TORONTO, May 14.—(CP)—Ulrich J. (Spud) Arsenault shoved his hands deep into $100,000 worth of his money today, munched a cigar, and said for posterity, "It doesn't excite me any."

Spud, to put it mildly, hit the jackpot. He received the money here, along with 250,000 shares of mining stock, in return for title to his claims some 300 miles north of Yellowknife.

"I'VE NEVER MADE that much money before and I'm going to look after it," Spud said. "I'm having it transferred to Edmonton."

Native of Wellington, P.E.I. and veteran of the First Great War, Spud had made other strikes but never as rich. He started work as a fire ranger and worked seven years from Fort McMurray to Lake Athabasca, and started prospecting 17 years ago.

Molotov Makes Offer

Reds Will Leave Bulgaria If Allies Get Out of Italy

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

PARIS, May 14.—(BUP)—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov offered today to withdraw Russian troops from Bulgaria if the United States and Great Britain would pull theirs out of Italy.

SECRETARY OF STATE James F. Byrnes proposed that the Big Four foreign ministers start discussions of a peace treaty with Austria. Molotov vetoed the proposal.

Byrnes and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain refused to make a deal for the withdrawal of Russian troops from Bulgaria.

PARIS, May 14.—(BUP)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes today proposed an early adjournment of the Foreign Ministers conference and the calling of a Peace conference for July 1 or 15.

Allied troops from Italy in exchange for a Russian evacuation of Bulgaria.

The council discussed a report by experts on the Franco-Italian frontier, but took up none of the major issues of the Italian treaty.

The foreign ministers were as deadlocked as ever on Trieste, and had failed to find a definite formula for the colonial and reparations issues which once seemed near solution.

NOTICEABLY JADED after nearly three weeks of talking, the ministers today made one more attempt to reach agreement on Italy before taking up the future of Germany tomorrow.

The only real basis for optimism in the involved and often repetitious negotiations appeared to be that neither Russia nor the western powers wanted to take responsibility for admitting that the conference had failed.

All participants seemed determined not to give up while a faint prospect for success remained.

Some quarters saw the possibility that the meeting might run into next week.

MOLOTOV SEEMED as determined as the others to keep plugging ahead, although he usually faced at least an Anglo-American alignment against him. Frequently it was supported by the French.

It was Molotov who balked yesterday when Byrnes suggested a change of pace by switching the discussion to Germany.

The ministers battled for four hours last yesterday and broke up without either side having yielded an inch on basic points.

Reserve Decision

In Nazi POW Trial

MEDICINE HAT, May 14.—(CP)—Magistrate W. H. Ellis yesterday reserved his decision on commitment of Sgt. Walter Wolf, one of four German prisoners-of-war charged with the hanging of a fellow prisoner, Karl Lehmman, in the Medicine Hat internment camp Sept. 10, 1944.

THE MAGISTRATE said he would give his decision Tuesday after study of a signed statement by Wolf which was entered as an exhibit before the hearing concluded.

The statement, obtained from Wolf by Detective Corporal A. H. Hall of the RCMP, was a 22-page document outlining details of the hanging.

Also entered as an exhibit was a sketch drawn by Wolf of the room in which Lehmman was hanged which showed the positions of those in the room who took part in the murder.

Housing Subsidy Essential

In a lengthy report just issued after the completion of an exhaustive survey, the Vancouver Housing Association, a member of the Welfare Council of Greater Vancouver, declares that a housing subsidy is absolutely and immediately essential because 63 per cent of Vancouver's wage-earners are to pay only $25 per month or less for shelter.

Under these circumstances they are unable to buy or rent under any wartime housing plan that is a modern and decent nature. The Vancouver Housing Association urges that subsidies of at least $10 per month be paid out of public funds to these workers for rental.

This investigation and this report demanding a subsidy produce no new principle. As long as three years ago, The Edmonton Bulletin was pointing out that no housing plan could succeed without the use of interest-free government funds because private enterprise could not possibly afford to build houses within the rental or purchase reach of the majority of Canadian wage-earners.

The current examination of circumstances in Vancouver only offers additional concrete evidence to support that view. Here are the facts as adduced in Vancouver:

Carrying charges on minimum type houses built by private enterprise are never less than $35 per month. Even limited dividend corporations using three percent money cannot build houses to rent for less than $50 per month.

More than 63 percent of all wage-earners make less than $1,500 a year. Nearly one-third of all renting families make less than $1,000 a year.

Thus, the need for a subsidy becomes obviously imperative if the renter is not to run hopelessly into debt or deprive himself and his family of food and clothing to pay more than one-fifth of his wage for shelter.

The Vancouver association advocates a subsidy of around $10 per month per renter of this class to be paid by the Dominion, the province and the municipality. It estimates that the cost of the Dominion program on a nation-wide program would be about $1 per person per year.

This demand for housing subsidies has now been made in Montreal, in Toronto, in Winnipeg, in Vancouver and in practically every Canadian centre. Only the federal Government, it seems, has been able to see the desperate need for it.

Who "Failed" at Caen

Matthew Halton, the Alberta-born correspondent of the CBC, quotes figures from Field Marshal Montgomery's book to refute the fantastic claim of Mr. Ralph Ingersoll that British and Canadian forces at Caen failed to play the role assigned to them.

The figures show that from June 15th to July 10th, 1944, the British-Canadian front there held from five to seven and a half entire divisions armed with from 525 to 725 tanks. This concentration of armor forces gave Gen. Patton the opportunity to make his famous end-run through Brittany with only two enemy divisions and 190 tanks to bar his way.

It was the enemy who "failed" at Caen, and that not from lack of troops or armor. This accords with the declaration of Gen. Eisenhower that "a foot gained at Caen" was worth "miles gained elsewhere."

These figures mean nothing to Mr. Ralph Ingersoll whose purpose was to spread an impression that Canadian and British troops had proved to be inferior. They should mean something to any who have read his mischievous romancing and who would like to know the facts.

Street Railway Puzzles

There are a number of matters with regard to the operation of Edmonton's street railway which contribute to the unease of Edmonton citizens because they plunge those citizens, to whom the system actually belongs, into bewilderment and sometimes dismay.

These, including The Edmonton Bulletin, are not prepared to say that the street railway system is a bad or notably inefficient system. But they are gravely puzzled by some of the apparently inexplicable things that happen.

They are prone to wonder, for instance—particularly as they stand waiting for their cars during the all-too-frequent stoppages of service—if everything possible is done to route these vehicles so as to maintain at least a partial service in some parts of the city instead of permitting cars to pile up in idle groups of ten to twenty all over the lines.

They are inclined to feel that the imagination and enterprise are exercised by those in charge of traffic routing at such times.

They sometimes think that the service would be expedited were inspectors continually on the move over the lines instead of remaining in isolated grandeur at Jasper and First. If they were on the move, they might be on hand, in some cases, to offer competent direction when these accidents and the consequent jams occur.

A good many too, have been somewhat amazed at the slipshod methods employed to effect repairs when trolley wires collapse as they so often do. Most cities have repair trucks constantly on call, so that when a break occurs, skilled repairmen can reach the spot within a few minutes.

This does not seem to be the case in Edmonton. Last Saturday, street car traffic was halted on Jasper avenue for nearly 25 minutes while a group of motormen struggled valiantly to haul the plane with bits of a rope a trolley wire which had fallen. It is reported that this is the conventional method of patching up these breaks, temporarily at least.

This, of course, is all lay criticism. It is in expert criticism. And there may be a good technical explanation of it. But most citizens, showing that explanation, feel that it is shoddy, inefficient and certainly not compatible with the size and dignity of present day Edmonton.

A Large Order

That soft coal miners in United States are going back to work for two weeks does not mean that the deadlock between Canadian industries in the central provinces can go back to full production, and that the prospect of a general fuel shortage next fall and winter has changed.

The trade does not even imply any definite expectation that the dispute will be settled in the interval. And should that happen, it will take many weeks to fill the empty bunkers and bins in the United States. Until that has been done, Canadian customers of the U.S. mines cannot hope to get supplies.

What Britain Pays

Britain is paying about twice the price for Canadian beef that it is paying for beef from Argentina. This was stated by a spokesman for the food ministry at London.

He did not say whether the price differential was because of the superiority of the Canadian product. He did say that during the first two months of the present year Argentine sales had been well over three times those of Canadian sales.

The spokesman added, does not know the origin of the beef he buys, because of the bulk-buying plan followed by the Government in dealing with imports.

During 1946, 1947 and possibly 1948 Britain will require all the beef Canada can supply. Thereafter, with world production back to normal, our sales will depend on prices in competition with beef from other exporting countries.

The point of the statement is that for two years, possibly three years, Canada has an assured market in Britain for all the beef it can spare, and is getting prices about double those paid to our present chief competitor.

Stalemate in Germany as at Paris—

Should Soviet Union Gain Predominant Strength in Europe, Germany Offers Easy Route for Extending Such Influence Leaving Western Powers Deprived of All the War Was Supposed to Have Been Fought for

By Dorothy Thompson

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Europe, theoretically the people in the Russian zone get the highest ration. But investigation has disclosed that available stocks are regularly being behind the ration cards. The people lining up for food often find their rations exist only on paper.

A STRUGGLE OCCURRED over what is the standard of nourishment to be aimed at. According to Potsdam it must not exceed the level of the European states. But what is that level? Again the question was compromised. The pre-war German nutritional standard was reduced to 60 per cent and its content 30 per cent.

Long debates finally set the necessary industrial exports at 15 billion marks, calculated at 1936 prices, and the Americans insisted on more industrial reparations from their zones until this is tested, for there is no intention to have American taxpayers pay the deficit of the Communist-Socialist sponsored constitution is indicative of the USSR might extend its hegemony directly through Germany, over half of which its power is absolute.

The stalemate in Paris is reflected in Berlin. The quadripartite command which theoretically governs Germany, and which, according to Potsdam, must treat Germany as a whole, has made almost no progress toward that end. All decisions must be unanimous, and even those regarding vital statistics become bargaining points.

TO ESTIMATE the food needs of Germany and the amount of industry necessary to furnish sufficient exports to pay for food imports, it is obviously necessary to determine the German population. Yet even such a matter of fact has to be settled by "compromise."

The Russians asserted that the population was 60,000,000. The Americans claimed it was 67,000,000. The British figure is absurd. The second is probably an underestimate by four to five millions. It is not yet set how many Germans will remain in Czechoslovakia and the new Poland and the Western Allies have no figures on the number of German prisoners of war still in Russia, or no knowledge of whether they are to be repatriated. But it was finally "agreed" that the German population is 66,500,000.

What the food resources in Germany are, is an open question. The Russians hold the largest agricultural sector, but what it is producing to the food is unknown. There is no uniform German rationing system.

The world, which through long ages has sought the meaning of truth, at last has received an answer from Boleslaw Bierut, president of Poland.

Truth, says Mr. Bierut, is determined by the opinion of the majority. The Polish government, therefore, has succeeded where all the philosophers of antiquity have failed.

From now on, thanks to Mr. Bierut's revelation, there will be no trouble deciding the truth about anything. Whatever the majority decides is true.

Rejection of French Constitution Is Decisive—

Analysis Shows 53 Percent Voted Against, as Compared With 51.5 Percent of Votes That Sweet Britain's Labor Government Into Office

By Randolph Churchill

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON—A vote already has been made in some quarters to belittle the significance of the recent French referendum on the constitutional question. The British Broadcasting Corporation, in reviewing the results, has taken the margin by which it was achieved as "small." The London Times writes, despite the fact that the departure of Prof. Edward Hallett Carr from the post of chief editorial writer still seems to be an apologetic for a leftist devoted to a whole editorial to the CHURCHILL opinion to the referendum and took result of the referendum over to refer to the closeness of the decision.

The Manchester Guardian, still the most distinguished exponent of liberal opinion in Europe, was realistic in its news columns. It reported what occurred under the headline, "Communist Deal." The truth, of course, is that a great political victory has been won by the forces of moderation, universal suffrage and democracy.

expected and decisive defeat has been inflicted upon the totalitarianism of the extreme left, idle and misleading to speak of the majority as "small."

THE MAJORITY of the "Nons" over the "Ouis" amounted to 1,170,000. With just under 20,000,000 votes cast, this means that the "Nons" deviated 53 per cent of the total, and the "Ouis" 47 per cent.

In percentages, this may seem a small margin. But let us see how it compares with last year's electoral triumph by Britain's Labor party.

The Labor party obtained approximately 55 per cent of all the votes polled, which was a gain of approximately 48.5 per cent. In spite of the narrowness of the margin, no one would question the right of the Labor party to form a single-party government from which all other parties are excluded. Nor did anyone, at the time or since, comment on the "smallness" of its majority.

When, then, in left-wing propaganda such as that which emanates from the British Broadcasting Corporation and the London Times, is so anxious the decay the significance of the French referendum decision?

It was obtained by a considerably wider margin than the Labor party's victory in England. It is a victory which is designed to appease Communists everywhere and to make them feel that they are included in coalition governments.

IT IS ESSENTIAL that these results should be understood. No compromise can be reached between the democratic way of life, as understood in America and Western Europe, and the Communist totalitarian regime which prevails in Russia and which the Russians are now so anxious to impose on other countries.

Increasingly afraid at making a distinction between what it calls "progressive" parties and parties of the right center which it seeks to smother with the epithet "Fascist," the Communist party in England has refused to be deceived by those tactics.

Under the leadership of Clement Attlee, Ernest Bevin and Herbert Morrison, they are staunchly repudiating the suggestion that they have any sympathy for the Communists than they have with the Liberals or the Conservatives.

Leon Blum's French Socialists have been trying to maintain their independence by forming an uneasy alliance with the French Communists. The referendum vote ended their eyes.

In the future, to assert an increasing independence from the Communist party.

WHILE IT is scarcely possible to exaggerate the importance of last Sunday's vote in France, it would be a mistake to regard it as conclusive. France still has to win a series of battles before the danger of Communism can be thought to be permanently defeated. But the auguries for the future are very good.

The leaders of all non-Communist left-wing opinion in France have been united in their opposition to the Communists. They are bound to trim their sails to the milder, more genteel political forces which are blowing across the fair land of France.

Last Sunday, most politicians (those who were bound to come from Moscow. Now it looks as if the French mean to take charge of their own political climate.

Rejection of French Constitution Is Decisive—

Today in Europe

Analysis Shows 53 Percent Voted Against, as Compared With 51.5 Percent of Votes That Sweet Britain's Labor Government Into Office

By Randolph Churchill

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON—A vote already has been made in some quarters to belittle the significance of the recent French referendum on the constitutional question. The British Broadcasting Corporation, in reviewing the results, has taken the margin by which it was achieved as "small." The London Times writes, despite the fact that the departure of Prof. Edward Hallett Carr from the post of chief editorial writer still seems to be an apologetic for a leftist devoted to a whole editorial to the CHURCHILL opinion to the referendum and took result of the referendum over to refer to the closeness of the decision.

The Manchester Guardian, still the most distinguished exponent of liberal opinion in Europe, was realistic in its news columns. It reported what occurred under the headline, "Communist Deal." The truth, of course, is that a great political victory has been won by the forces of moderation, universal suffrage and democracy.

expected and decisive defeat has been inflicted upon the totalitarianism of the extreme left, idle and misleading to speak of the majority as "small."

THE MAJORITY of the "Nons" over the "Ouis" amounted to 1,170,000. With just under 20,000,000 votes cast, this means that the "Nons" deviated 53 per cent of the total, and the "Ouis" 47 per cent.

In percentages, this may seem a small margin. But let us see how it compares with last year's electoral triumph by Britain's Labor party.

The Labor party obtained approximately 55 per cent of all the votes polled, which was a gain of approximately 48.5 per cent. In spite of the narrowness of the margin, no one would question the right of the Labor party to form a single-party government from which all other parties are excluded. Nor did anyone, at the time or since, comment on the "smallness" of its majority.

When, then, in left-wing propaganda such as that which emanates from the British Broadcasting Corporation and the London Times, is so anxious the decay the significance of the French referendum decision?

It was obtained by a considerably wider margin than the Labor party's victory in England. It is a victory which is designed to appease Communists everywhere and to make them feel that they are included in coalition governments.

IT IS ESSENTIAL that these results should be understood. No compromise can be reached between the democratic way of life, as understood in America and Western Europe, and the Communist totalitarian regime which prevails in Russia and which the Russians are now so anxious to impose on other countries.

Increasingly afraid at making a distinction between what it calls "progressive" parties and parties of the right center which it seeks to smother with the epithet "Fascist," the Communist party in England has refused to be deceived by those tactics.

Under the leadership of Clement Attlee, Ernest Bevin and Herbert Morrison, they are staunchly repudiating the suggestion that they have any sympathy for the Communists than they have with the Liberals or the Conservatives.

Leon Blum's French Socialists have been trying to maintain their independence by forming an uneasy alliance with the French Communists. The referendum vote ended their eyes.

In the future, to assert an increasing independence from the Communist party.

WHILE IT is scarcely possible to exaggerate the importance of last Sunday's vote in France, it would be a mistake to regard it as conclusive. France still has to win a series of battles before the danger of Communism can be thought to be permanently defeated. But the auguries for the future are very good.

The leaders of all non-Communist left-wing opinion in France have been united in their opposition to the Communists. They are bound to trim their sails to the milder, more genteel political forces which are blowing across the fair land of France.

Last Sunday, most politicians (those who were bound to come from Moscow. Now it looks as if the French mean to take charge of their own political climate.

All this is perfectly fantastic and we don't expect Mr. Bierut or any really wise man to understand it. We don't understand it ourselves, and this fact we cherish above all others for we hold to the final aberration that nothing is always true.

"Are your eyes fresh?" "Madam, the breeze doesn't realize I've got them yet!"

ADMITTEDLY we never know the truth and we never trust the majority very far, even if we happen to belong to it. We are always converting minorities into majorities and thus, according to Mr. Bierut's theory, truth with us is always changing.

In short, we do not maintain our incredible system, which is no system, because we want to be free to be right. We do it so that we can be free to be wrong and this freedom, quite enough, we value above all others because we have the old notion that someone whose we regard as wrong may be getting nearer the truth than we are.

INFIELDER ARNOLD MARTINS, from the Twin Falls, Idaho, club, is on his way to Edmonton, John Ducey stated Monday night. Martins, who plays either shortstop or third base, probably will be used at the difficult corner, if Harley Miller reports for short.

John also had a call from Joe Devine at San Francisco, and the scout for New York Yankees has lined up a catcher and a pair of infielders.

The catcher has been with Casey Stengel's Oakland club of the Pacific Coast league all spring and is still attending college, with a few exams to be cleaned up.

UNTIL A STUDENT finishes his schooling he cannot be signed by a pro organization and so the chances appear good the young receiver will be available for Edmonton, where he will get more ball than if he remained attached to Oakland. He bats from the left side.

The two outfielders Devine is seeking are expected to satisfy all requirements for outer gardeners, both as to fielding and hitting. One is a left-hand batter and the other a right.

Three additional pitchers and one infielder in the event of Harley Miller's not accepting will complete the rosters for the three Edmonton teams.

THIRTY-FIVE HORSES which had been training at the Exhibition track are due to leave Edmonton on Wednesday for Calgary, where the prairie racing season opens on Friday, May 24. Several others were shipped some days ago.

Included in the list are Harry Cook's Perfect Prince, Daddy and Ann-O-Vision, while J. Stolt is sending Shirley R. and D. Jones, Mr. Amster.

BOB EDWARDS is shipping his two Amsterdam colts Jandam and Amerseder (the latter an Alberta Derby eligible) along with Shasta King, and F. Jones is taking Hatters Light.

Weller and Williams Co., Ltd., is sending eight—Withersails, Duffy Craig, Lady Barber, Kelly Somers, Nicky Malson, Nickie's Star, and Sis-Avant, the latter pair being

Errors Are Costly

Walk-Rites Bury South Side Under One-Sided 17-2 Score

South Side met with near disaster in their first appearance in the City Senior Girls' Fastball League at Kingsway Park Monday night when they suffered a 17-2 setback at the hands of the Walk-Rites, who marked up their second straight victory.

The game never measured up to the brand of the Walk-Rite-Mortons' opener last Saturday, but Nin Gray's South Siders showed promise and should be able to supply tougher opposition as the season progresses.

Errors proved the downfall of the newly formed club, however, as they checked in with 13 in the game which was called after eight innings because of darkness.

CREDIT FOR THE SECOND Walk-Rite victory goes to Jen (Spargo) Campbell who held the South Side girls to a pair of hits in four innings. She left the game at the end of the fourth with Walk-Rites leading 7-1. Betty Carveth, who won Saturday's tilt, checked the next inning and Mickey McConnell buried the last three.

Netta Tough and Claudia Elm handled the pitching chores for South Side, but couldn't stop Murphy's Suliman's powerer squad.

THE GAME WAS CLOSE until the fourth inning. South Side scored one in the first to take a 1-0 lead and Walk-Rites came back to tie it up in the second and move ahead 2-1 in the third. Then came the big blow—five runs for Walk-Rites—that turned the game. The winners pounded out four hits and South Side killed with a squ-

Arrows Meet Canadians in First Tilt at Clarke Stadium

Junior Baseball League Opens on Friday

FIFTH VICTORY:—Hal Newhouse, leading major league pitcher for the past two seasons, Monday received credit for his fifth win in six starts, as Detroit turned back Chicago White Sox and moved to within a game of the second place Yankees.

Baseball is due to get away to an early start here this year with the opening game of the Edmonton Junior Baseball League campaign set for Friday night of this week at Clarke Stadium.

The 1946 campaign will be ushered in at 6:30 o'clock that evening when Arrows, city champs last year, and Canadian Athletic Club winners of the league schedule will meet in the playoffs, meet at the East End park.

THE LEAGUE, which operates under the direction of President Phil Horn, Secretary George Ward and Vice-President Art Ward, has expanded from a four-team circuit to a six-club loop this season. Edmonton Athletic Club and South Side were the other two in the league last year, and Maple Leafs and Canadian National Railway.

Side were the other two in the league last year, and Maple Leafs and Canadian National Railway.

In addition to seeing more teams in action, the fans will also have a new stand to view the proceedings from before the season is well under way. A grand stand, to be built straight back of the back-stop, which would have dugouts and dressing room showers for the players, has been approved by the city council.

IN THE SCHEDULE just released, there are a total of 45 games listed between May 17 and August 13, giving each of the six teams 15 games each during the regular season.

Following completion of the schedule, there will be semi-final and final playoffs arranged.

The league is opening two full weeks ahead of last season, and its first clubs being re-organized, but it still clubs have had over a month's time to get their teams in shape and are all rarin' to go.

JOE SHANDRO is coaching the last year championship Arrows, managed by Bill Ball while Val Berg is in charge of the Canadian entry. Clayton Delighan and Doug Stevenson are handling the Edmonton Athletic Club nine, and Paul Martel is master-minding the South Side squad.

Earl Samis and Lou Hiatt are in charge of the two new teams, Maple Leafs and CNR Calder respectively. Ceremonies for the official opening have not yet been completed, but will be announced later.

Following is the 1946 schedule, MAY 17—Arrows at Canadians, 18—EAC at SS, 19—Maple Leafs at CNR, 20—Canadians at EAC, 21—CNR at SS, 22—EAC at Maple Leafs, 23—SS at Canadians, 24—CNR at EAC, 25—Maple Golf

By BYRON NELSON

WRITING of changing my clubs around, as I did in the previous column, reminding me that while it is something I have done only once in a while, there are some players who are continually changing their clubs.

Gene Sarazen, for instance, is a player who likes to work on his clubs in the shop. I remember well on one occasion when he was carrying a bag full of irons, except for the deep pitched club, with the lofts all on about the same angle as the loft of a No. 4 iron.

Let's take a star of the Hagen era, and a player who has probably hit the flag on a hole in the second shot more often than any in the game. This was another golfer who was always in the shop working on his clubs with the bending tools and making them suit the swing he had that day. I remember seeing him play in a tournament when nearly every iron in his bag was a jigger.

A JIGGER MAY be a strange club to the younger generation of golf, but you older golfers will remember a jigger as being a club with about the loft of a No. 4 iron, but it had the head of a No. 2. With a jigger you could hit the ball high or low or slice it or hook it as you wished. It was an excellent club with which to play a chip and run shot off the edge of the green.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden probably tinkers with his clubs more than any of the modern golfers, especially with his wooden clubs. Harold has a driver for every day in the week and he is continually changing the loft and length of his drivers and his other wood clubs.

One day he adds lead to his woods and the next he takes it out. That's particularly true of Harold's lying clubs. Before a tournament with plenty of time on his hands, but funny as it may seem, in view of the fact that he apparently is never satisfied with his clubs, McSpaden is a very good driver and hits an exceptionally long ball.

BEN HOGAN is another player who makes changes in his clubs. He likes the weight in the club-head distributed a little differently than most of us do. But he is partial to one set of clubs. When he gets a club he likes, he uses it over and over again and he is reluctant to change to a new one. Right now he is carrying a new set of clubs in his car in addition to the ones he is using in tournaments and he is breaking them in and slowly getting accustomed to playing with them.

Of course, the club which all the boys fool around with more than any other, and that includes McSpaden, is the putter. It seems as though we all use putters to suit the mood we're in.

DURING JIMMY Demare's great 1940 winning career he used an old putter that had been a favorite of his for many years. For some reason he neglected it and when he got out of the Navy and resumed tournament play last fall, he found it hunch he took the neglected putter out of his bag at Tucson, regained his putting touch, won the Tucson Open and has used it ever since.

However, most of the good putters use the same putter quite consistently. Back in 1944 Harold McSpaden was hot with an aluminum putter that he had. During the 1945 Jacksonville, Fla., Open he tossed an iron to his caddy after playing a shot to the green. His caddy tossed the club to him, but the putter broke the head off. McSpaden has yet to find a putter he can use as well as he could that particular one.

Stohlberg Wins Cup Trials Match

VANCOUVER, May 14.—(CP)—Walt Stohlberg of Vancouver, defeated Don Hodges of Regina, 6-3, in a singles tennis match, as Western Canadian Davis Cup trials continued here yesterday.

The loss did not necessarily eliminate Hodges as one of the two players who will make up eastern representatives on the Canadian Davis Cup squad being chosen to meet Mexico.

Unorthodox Fighter Woodcock in Good Shape For Bout With Mauriello

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N.Y., May 14.—(AP)—During the revolutionary war this Hudson River valley country was frequented by British spies who made bold forays behind the American lines. One was caught and hanged at nearby Tappan.

Another spy story was written the other day in the camp of heavyweight Bruce Woodcock, but history did not repeat. The spy was an American, Phil Terranova, former United States featherweight boxing champion, who came here to scout Woodcock for the Britons May 17 opponent, Tami Mauriello.

TERRANOVA is managed by Bobby Gleason, who owns the New York City gymnasium where Mauriello is doing his training for the Madison Square Garden bout. Phil showed up at Bear Mountain Inn and inquired whether he'd be permitted to train a couple of days for his coming fight with Terranova. He was given a room and a bath and inquired whether he'd be permitted to train a couple of days for his coming fight with Terranova. He was given a room and a bath and inquired whether he'd be permitted to train a couple of days for his coming fight with Terranova.

Had Terranova been bent on espionage, this is what he could have taken back to the Mauriello camp: The British heavyweight is well-conditioned and never took a deep breath in four rounds of sparring with two partners.

HE HAS A LIGHTNING-LIKE left jab, which he drives straight home, and a right that rips into the ribs and under the heart like a bomb. However, neither Tom Hurst nor Mills is free—Woodcock doesn't use that right as often as he could or should.

He appears to leave himself open for hooks to the head but manages to duck most of them. He uses a feint calculated to draw in his opponent and make him a wide-open target.

He employs a left hook sparingly, but when he does, it is loaded with power. He springs from his toes when he shoots his left and he uses the bob and weave to advantage. (Mauriello boxes more or less flat-footed, due to an old ring injury.)

Jersey Beats Buffalo Toronto Blanks Baltimore On Les McCrabb's 3-Hitter

MONTREAL, May 14.—(CP)—Les McCrabb spread five hits to give the Toronto Maple Leafs a 3-0 victory over Baltimore Orioles last night while Buffalo Bisons edged out Jersey City Giants 6-5 in the only scheduled International League baseball games yesterday.

Leafs picked up two runs in the fifth frame when Don Richmond and Hank Biasatti singled; Baltimore hurler Ray Flanagan walked McCrabb on a wild pitch that cashed in Richmond, and Biasatti scored on a long fly and Chet Morgan's single. Toronto picked up another tally in the next inning when Jack Houck singled, stole second and scored on a fly and Don Richmond's single to second base.

Johnny Ward was the big gun for Bisons, hitting four safeties in as many trips to the plate. At Buffalo, Jack McHale pounded his third home run and chased in half the runs necessary for Buffalo Bisons to polish off Jersey City before the game.

It was the fifth triumph for Bisons in their last seven starts and boosted them over the .500 mark in the standings. Veteran Pete Appleton entered the game in the ninth inning to check a final Jersey threat, rescuing Zeb Eaton with two on and none down. He was Appleton's fourth consecutive successful relief stint.

Baseball Picture Looks Very Rosy

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—(AP)—If there is any lingering doubt as to the season's outlook, Connie Mack said Monday in effect: "Forget it!"

Philadelphia Athletics set out on their western tour solidly enmeshed in the American league cellar—the game in the ninth inning to check a final Jersey threat, rescuing Zeb Eaton with two on and none down. He was Appleton's fourth consecutive successful relief stint.

The 83-year-old patriarch of the diamond game said he was "pleased" that 223,743 customers have watched his team in 17 playing days at home. That's an average of more than 13,000 a game, best yet for the A's since a mark of 400,000 attendance a season is profitable business (that's an average of less than 6,000 a game), the A's manager is satisfied financially.

Statisticians Do A Complete Job

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 14.—(AP)—A total of 23,954,100 pins will have been sent crashing by 3,831,656 balls along 40 specially-constructed alleys by the close today of the American Bowling Congress' annual world championship tournament.

That's what ABC statisticians figured Monday as they attempted to sum up in figures the history of the 62-day event, third largest since the meet was instituted in 1901. A total of 229,541 games will have been bowled, with 100 pins estimated for each game. An estimated 355,688 admissions were sold.

Mills is Forced To Lose Weight

LONDON, May 14.—(AP)—Freddie Mills, British Empire lightweight champion, was forced to skip rope yesterday in order to keep his weight below the 118-pound maximum for tonight's world title fight with Gus Lesnevich of Clifffide, N.J.

The Jersey jabber, meanwhile rested and was confident he would weigh-in at about 174. Mills' weight problem injected a new note into the mournful predictions British boxing writers have made regarding what it is in for the Briton in the 15-round affair that gets under way at 4:20 p.m. C.D.T.

Physically Mills and Lesnevich are virtually twins although the Englishman has a one-inch advantage in reach and at 26 is four years the younger. Lesnevich, counters with far more experience.

U of A Graduating Class Attends Impressive Valedictory Ceremony

ON U.S. TOUR—Argentine Actress Tilda Thamar has arrived in Miami for a three-month tour of the U.S. She says she wants to create a "current of sympathy" between the two countries.

Suggest Extension Road Program Here

Expenditure of $3,000,000 in the next three years on Edmonton streets will be insufficient to bring the roads of this city up to the standard which should be maintained according to Mayor Harry Ainlay. The three-year program should be expanded to one of five years with the expenditure of a million dollars a year before a decent start is made, the mayor stated.

HE INSISTED that "mud and gravel streets must go, especially where traffic is so all-heavy."

"I have mentioned frequently our streets are a disgrace for a beautiful city," he added. "We know that little could be done during the war, but little was done before the war either."

"I AM NOT blaming the city engineer's department for this, although so many of the citizens are ready to do so. It was largely due to the fact that we were not prepared to spend the necessary money. So many of our residents would not petition for paving because it meant increased taxes and yet they complained of mud streets. The trust funds deposited with the city from the civic engineer's pension deposits and other things can provide approximately $400,000 a year for local improvements, without any outside financing."

"I BELIEVE we should put such things as pavement and sidewalks on a taxation scheme in perpetuity, the same as our water and sewers. As it is at present, a tax for pavement on a 20-year basis and the residents pay their share in that time. Then future generations have the use of the paving without cost. If the paving was put on a perpetuity basis the annual payments would be less and if the pavement had to be renewed the city would do it without a new taxation."

"SOME PLAN must be formed to encourage our people to pave their streets. Our program for this year is as large as we are likely to finish," the mayor said.

Hotel Officials Given New Posts

REGINA, May 14—(CP)—Transfer of B. W. Little, assistant manager and E. C. Pitt, office manager of the Hotel Saskatchewan, was announced yesterday. Mr. Little is transferred to Banff Springs hotel and Mr. Pitt to Chateau Lake Louise. Frank Howard, formerly of the Palliser hotel, Calgary, succeeds Mr. Little.

Dr. Robert Newton, president of the University of Alberta, Dr. W. G. Hardy, honorary president of the Senior Class, and Gunner Campbell, president of the Senior Class, took their places on a fern and geranium banked platform in Convocation Hall of the University Arts Building Monday afternoon to officiate at the Graduation Valedictory Exercises.

MR. CAMPBELL, representing the 540 graduating students, acted as chairman and introduced Dr. Hardy, who, in a brief address, wished graduate students the best of luck in their future undertakings.

Dr. Hardy noted that valedictory exercises have a note of sadness and of triumph for the students who have until now been undergoing a rehearsal for living have now achieved their goal and are stepping out on to life's stage.

"EDUCATION DOESN'T begin or end with university," Dr. Hardy said in encouraging the graduates to drive on toward truth and freedom, placing humanity first and themselves second. In closing Dr. Hardy said to the graduates, "May life always remain an adventure for you."

In the historian's address Miss Dorothy Ward outlined the activities, the initiations, the worries and fears of war-time university. Miss Ward commented on the growth of CURMA, the opening of the university cafeteria, the re-opening of the residences and the awarding of trophies won by students of the University of Alberta in the past few years. Miss Ward concluded by saying that now in the time of new ideas and ambitions, the students must play a part in the reconstruction of the university in the post war era.

On behalf of the Alumni Association the Rev. E. J. Thompson, pastor of 26, extended a welcome to 1946 graduates. Dr. Thompson spoke of the respect, recognition and honor which have been extended to the eight thousand U. of A. Alumni members throughout the world and commended this university for the high standard of its achievement.

The Valedictory Address was given by Roy Reynolds, who receives his BA degree in honors in political economy on Wednesday. Mr. Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Reynolds of Wainwright, is well known on the campus for his activities in the Debating Society, Public Speaking Club, Political Science Club, Men's Economic Club and the Curling Club. Mr. Reynolds states that for the future, it is his desire to do post graduate work in political economy.

IN HIS ADDRESS Mr. Reynolds spoke of the tolerance, friendship and high scholastic achievement which was so evident on the U. of A. campus during the war years. Continuing, he stated, "We must now justify the sacrifices made for us in past years. We must have a thirst for knowledge, the search for truth, freedom and justice, and maintenance of the university motto. 'Whatever things are true' were suggested by Mr. Reynolds as the words which should be perpetuated by the class of '46. The Valedictorian concluded, we must dedicate ourselves to the pursuit of those things we know to be honorable and worthy of our endeavours."

Mr. Campbell explained that the 1946 graduating class had chosen as a gift to the university a one hundred dollar war bond to be added to the University War Memorial fund. This gift, which was made as it served a dual purpose of paying tribute to and commemorating those who made the supreme sacrifice during the war, and because it would be of use to many who will be attending university in the years to come.

On receiving the gift, Dr. Newton remarked that the gift was a fitting view of the fact that it was presented by the class who came through university during the war years. In concluding the Valedictory Service Dr. Newton stated, "Remember that Alma Mater is behind you, proud of you and grateful to you."

DURING THE SERVICE, selections on the Memorial organ were given by Prof. L. H. Nichols, organist to the university.

Following the valedictory program, the Founder's Day ceremony was held at the northeast corner of the Arts Building, where an ash tree was planted as a memento to graduates of 1946. Dr. Newton gave a brief account of the founding of the university. Gunner Campbell then played the first spadeful of earth on the tree, and

WHO'S ZOO NEWS, TOO

Seems again at nature, but this handsome puss, who makes her home at Chicago's Anti-Cruelty Society, has her own pets—the seven white mice seen in the photo. They play amicably together and Puss apparently never thinks of them as a potential snack.

Mrs. Ella Rainbow, of Chicago, on whose hand is perched Flossie, the sparrow, found the bird in her yard, suffering from a badly injured wing. Nursed back to health, Flossie now refuses to leave her benefactress.

Even ducks are suffering from the housing shortage, it seems. This one, while awaiting quarters being built for him at Hutchinson, Kan., moved in on Sandy, the Pup. They're now happy tenants of the same doghouse.

U of A Senior Class President Busy Preparing for Graduation

One of the busiest students on the U. of A. campus this week is Gunner Campbell, president of the senior class, who carries on his shoulders the weight and worries of handling arrangements for the university graduation exercises.

DURING HIS FOUR years on the Alberta campus, Mr. Campbell, who graduates this month in electrical engineering, has taken an active part in varsity affairs, as a member of the Engineering Student Society of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and of the Institute of Radio Engineers.

Mr. Campbell acted as the 1945-46 correspondent to the Cross and Crescent, magazine of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity of which he is a member.

Mr. Campbell also played intercollegiate rugby and hockey. He had the responsibility of organizing one of the outstanding university football teams of the year, the Senior Prom. To this graduate in applied science, also goes credit for the colorful engineering float which took part in the "Welcome the Saskatchewan Huskies" parade held last fall.

DURING THE SUMMER of 1945, Mr. Campbell, as president of the university naval training division, studied the navy radar course given at the University of Toronto.

As chairman of the valedictory exercises in Convocation Hall Monday afternoon, Mr. Campbell presented to Dr. Newton, president of the university, a one hundred dollar war bond.

During Monday afternoon's Fourth of July ceremony, Mr. Campbell, as president of the senior class, went the honor of placing the first spadeful of earth on the ash tree which was planted in front of the Arts building as a memento to this year's graduating class.

Mr. Campbell will leave at the end of the week for Maple Creek, Sask., where he will be employed with Ducks Unlimited for whom he has worked two previous summers.

Mr. Campbell admits that when autumn arrives he will probably miss varsity and the hard work associated with university studies but is looking forward to a busy summer in his duties with Ducks Unlimited.

Approve of Sale Land For Housing

Sale of 6.8 acres in the west end of the old penitentiary site abutting on Jasper avenue to Housing Enterprises Ltd., was approved by city council Monday night. The purchase price was $1,500 an acre, the same price as the city paid for this property when it was purchased last year from the Dominion government.

HOUSING ENTERPRISES Ltd. propose to erect 30 apartment units on the property to provide accommodation for 150 families. The suites in the 30 three-storey apartment blocks will have one, two and three bedrooms.

Mayor Harry Ainlay told council that the company was very anxious to complete the deal with the city as it desired to call for tenders on the construction of the apartment blocks as soon as possible. He said it was the company's intention to complete 50 per cent of the project this year.

Recommending the authorization of the sale the commissioners reported that the property has not been finally surveyed, and submitted a map to aldermen showing the approximate location and boundaries of the property.

THEY REPORTED that it was proposed that the property be zoned as "multiple dwelling" property to permit the erection of multiple free proof apartments, and asked for approval of the proposed zoning.

In the map submitted to council it was shown that the apartments would be constructed along a line fronting on Jasper avenue, and extending through the city to 92 street and north to the CNR tracks. A belt of trees would be planted on the northern end of the property to screen the tracks from view. The whole area would be landscaped with garden plots, and provision made for a small business section abutting on the property.

The ROAD AHEAD

By HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

THERE is a tendency these days, when it is customary to look to the government for everything desirable, and blame them for everything which we have which is undesirable, to overlook the individual. The parable of the loaves and the fishes is much more popular than the parable of the talents.

Gold Seeker's Quest Proves Successful

Herbert Holland of Los Angeles has his piece of gold—three pieces. In fact—from the Salmita Gold Mines up Yellowknife way and is headed back to Hollywood and $1,000, the prize for taking the "consequences" in a broadcast program.

A 30-year-old wounded veteran of the Pacific war, Holland was in Edmonton Tuesday accompanied by Mike Mito, veteran northland miner from Yellowknife. He figures he has lots of time to get back to Los Angeles by Saturday night in time for the radio program when he must show his gold and the signature of a genuine miner.

A former theatrical equipment salesman, Holland says the $1,000 will come in mighty handy because he plans to marry his Texas sweetheart, Mildred Martin, this fall.

"I'll use that $1,000 to buy furniture," said Holland.

CP Air Lines helped Holland a whole lot to carry out his assignment, making a couple of extra flights during break-up of the Salmita mine lode.

Dynamite was used, to blast the gold-bearing rock for his precious "samples".

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION: Have you any suggestions which would help to boost the tourist business in Alberta?

THE ANSWERS: J. L. Johnston, salesman, I think that a little more general practice of courtesy by waitresses and gas station attendants might help.

PETER DOCHERTY, farmer: A lot of our best beauty spots are not on the main highways at all. I would suggest that a campaign to improve side roads should be started. For instance, there's a nice little lake with a sandy beach just past my place, and good roads to the road could stand some fixing up.

JOHN D. SMITHERS, veteran: We all know people and write to people in other parts of Canada and in other countries. I would suggest that when we write to them we stick in a little hint about what a grand place Alberta is—its scenery, its climate, its wealth of spots of cold weather and brief droughts.

City Kiddies to Ride On Model of Train

The subject of many boyhood dreams will be viewed in reality by Edmonton children during the two weeks commencing Saturday, May 18, as a CNR model train will be put into action on the second floor of the T. Eaton Company (Western) Ltd.

THE KIDDIES will have the opportunity of riding on the train through realistic scenery such as tunnels, around mountains and passed waterfalls. Model farms, gasolene stations, grain elevators, and country houses are included in the model itself. A special unit keeps the batteries continually charged.

The locomotive and tender are 18 feet long while the whole train is 50 feet long and stands about three feet high. To complete the effect, the headlight, tail light, whistle and bell are put in use as the train carries its young passengers around the track.

THE MINIATURE CNR railway will be in continuous operation in the CNR shops in Montreal. It is electrically operated from batteries by a seven and one-half horsepower motor with an additional five horsepower motor in the model itself. A special unit keeps the batteries continually charged.

Wife Will Free Husband But Opposes a Divorce

Plight of Young Wife Who Offers to Give Separation to Freedom-Loving Husband Typifies the Problem of Those Who Marry Too Young

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been married four months. He is 20 and I am 18. He has been discharged from the Army in which he served five years. He told me the other day that he wanted me to give him a divorce because he had not had his fun yet. He wants to have dates and go out like the other guys. He runs around with boys who are not married. I told him I would give him a separation and let him have his fling. I don't want a divorce because I love him, and I hope he will come back to me after he gets tired of running around. Do you think I have done right? CHRIS

ANSWER: I think you have shown a wisdom beyond your years in handling this situation. There would be no happiness or joy in being the wife of a man when his heart and desires were elsewhere. You make him feel that you're holding him a prisoner and he would hate you for it, whereas he will be bound to admire your generosity and goodness of soul in letting him go. In many cases it pays the wife to drive with a loose rein.

BUT YOUR PLIGHT emphasizes the plea I make so often in this column to boys and girls not to marry until they have had their playtime. For the desire for excitement, for pleasure, for laughter and frolic and merrymaking is something that is implanted in us by

Why Grow Old?

VACATION TIME is here again for the first time in years, to the delight of thousands of men and women. Travel is not yet what it used to be because service men are still going and coming and space is hard to get. Train travel is perhaps the most comfortable form of transportation. Gone are the days and weary days when they took cars and cinders in the eye. Now, with air-conditions, practically universal, you can rest while you get to and from your vacation spot. The art of relaxation is a wonderful thing to conquer. When we can't understand why we haven't.

JOSEPHINE LOWMAN waiting in for a train or for an appointment with a doctor, or a bus or subway if you will adjust your mental viewpoint to this attitude.

IF YOU ARE GOING ON your vacation by train this summer, do this. Approach the travel part with the least possible feeling of reluctance. Stretch your legs when the train stops and go to dinner with relish. Stretch your back when the train stops and go to dinner with relish. Stretch your back when the train stops and go to dinner with relish. Stretch your back when the train stops and go to dinner with relish.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRD. BABIES are impressed by the manner in which the mothers present their meals. Granted that mothers are busy and mealtimes come often, this is still no excuse for giving the baby the idea that this is just an unpleasant ceremony that should be finished as soon as possible.

NEARLY APPROACHING THE BABY with a new utensil for feeding, such as a cup or a spoon instead of a bottle, the mother's smiling, leisurely air is important. Just one look at the mother appraises the baby that something new is going to happen. It's a new game and he is expected to take part in it. Putting herself in that frame of mind is going to give the mother an entirely different expression than if she were saying to herself, "Oh, goodness, suppose he chokes on this."

IT IS RIGHT to expect some mishaps when spoons and cups are first presented. Expect the baby to dribble out of his mouth as if he had no idea what to do with it. Make him choke a little, let his back and laugh and say, "Here, feller, try that again. You don't need a spoon."

WHEN THE SPOON IS FIRST USED the baby tends to treat it as if it were a bottle nipple and the spoon contains something sweet. The spoon contains something sweet. The spoon contains something sweet.

THE SUCCESS in new ventures is assured if your attitude is right. You don't expect perfect manners from young children. You expect smiling and spitting and putting hands into food and making bubbles in cups. Take it in your stride. What you are attempting to do is make a pleasant ceremony of feeding. Let the baby settle down to business eventually.

AND KEEP THAT SMILE pasted on your face. If you don't smile you are going to be suspicious of what you are offering to that cup or spoon. The game pleasant and he'll play like the little gentleman he is.

Our Infant No. 44 "Spoon and Cup Feeding," suggests some of the tricks. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed note with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Sick Leave Plan Fifteen Divorces May Get Overhaul Are Granted Here

Proposals to correct inadequacies of sick benefits to certain civic employees will be considered by the finance committee of city council Tuesday. The committee will be asked to consider the recommendations of the city controller, who has been asked to make certain changes in the plan by A. A. Campbell, city controller, and on the request of Mayor Harry Ainslie, they were referred to the finance committee for consideration and report.

If the recommendations are accepted by council on report from the committee civic employees will be granted 12 days sick leave after three months of service, and after the first 12 days of sickness, and any one year employees will be entitled to receive from the city sick pay allowances at the indemnity rate to which they are entitled under the London Life plan until the indemnity under the present London Life plan becomes payable.

The city controller recommends also that the present London Life plan be continued whereby employees and their dependents receive certain hospital and surgical benefits, and the employees receive weekly indemnities for a period of 24 weeks after the 12th day of any one sickness, and the city continue to pay part of the cost of such coverage as at present.

It was also recommended that after the indemnity under the present London Life plan ceases, and provided the employee is still sick that he be paid the weekly indemnity for the time of such extra continued sickness up to at least six months.

THE RECOMMENDED changes in the accident and sickness plan were made to meet requests from a large body of civic employees seeking the adoption of the policy of an accumulative sick leave plan. Mr. Campbell, in his report to council, stated that "although we see many benefits to such a plan we are not convinced that it is the best. We are of the opinion that employees should be taken care of while they are sick, irrespective of length of service, and irrespective of whether they are able to accumulate sick leave."

His report stated that the proposed changes had been discussed with and were acceptable to the Civic Employees Federation.

Grease Gun Death Found Accidental

A welded base plate which gave way in a grease gun pressure tank is believed to have caused the explosion which cost the life of 16-year-old Wilfred Jalbert, 1232 66 street, at the Dominion Motors Ltd. garage last Saturday afternoon. The six-man jury's verdict stated that no blame could be attached to anyone for the accident.

"I HAVE NEVER KNOWN of an explosion of that kind in the 17 years experience I have had in this province," stated E. E. Owen, 11250 91 street, inspector of the Workmen's Compensation Board, while giving evidence. Mr. Owen, who inspected the grease gun pressure tank being used by the youth at the time of the accident, said that in his opinion the explosion was caused by the fact that the base plate of the tank giving away.

The tank had been placed on the concrete floor so much that the weld had worn down some and it was possible that the weld had been affected by rust over many years, Mr. Owen said.

WITNESSES STATED that they had not actually seen Jalbert being hit by the tank, but said that the tank apparently was thrown to the ceiling by the force of the explosion and either hit the youth on the way up or fell on his head as it came down.

Alfred Quigley, who was working at a bench beside Jalbert a few minutes before the explosion occurred, stated that the pressure gauge on the tank was in working order. "I had just left the room when I heard an explosion and ran back to see what had happened and found him lying on the floor with the tank being him," he said.

SHOP FOREMAN William L. Perrie said that the youth was using a hose to force air into the tank so he could grease the transmission on a car. The tank was built to withstand 300 pounds of pressure and the maximum air pressure obtainable was only 150 pounds, he said, adding that at the time the explosion occurred the air pressure was considerably below that mark.

The verdict returned by the jury stated that Jalbert died as a result of an accident which occurred at Dominion Motors Ltd., at the corner of 107 street and 101 avenue, where he was employed at the time he was performing his regular duties, when an air pressure tank exploded, and that the blame could be attached to anyone.

CAUSE OF DEATH was said to be "multiple fractures of the face and skull and shock." Jurymen were: James Edgar, 10729 107 street; A. J. Brass, 12412 113 avenue; R. R. Brown, 10788 avenue; E. Armstrong, 9232 108 avenue; M. McKinley, 11534 96 street; W. Hogan, foreman, 10408 97 street.

DR. E. A. BATHWAITE, chief provincial coroner, presided.

Protest License For Dog Kennels

Protests by residents in the vicinity of 136 street and 118 avenue against the granting of licenses to operate a dog kennel in that district will be heard by the city council's finance committee Tuesday.

AN APPLICATION has been made by Mrs. D. S. Barnett, 13605 118 avenue, for a license to operate a dog kennel, but residents in the neighborhood who operate milk farms are opposed to the granting of the license, because of the nearness of the dog kennels would materially affect milk production. They also object to the fact that a dog kennel near their residences would constitute a nuisance.

Mr. Barnett told the council Monday night that she had purchased the property on which the kennel is located from the city after making careful enquiries at the different city departments concerning regulations for the operation of a dog kennel in that district.

She said that assurance had been given by the city architect's department and by the health department that it would be within regulations to operate a kennel at the property she proposed to purchase. On the strength of these assurances she purchased the property, and after building the kennel and a house the complaints from neighbors pointed out to city commissioners against operation of the kennel.

COUNCIL MEMBERS were told by the commissioners that the city license inspector is prepared to approve the license as long as it is within the agricultural zone where this type of business is permitted. The health department has made an inspection of the location and is also prepared to approve of the license. J. T. Jones, who operates a milk ranch in close proximity to the kennels, is opposed to the operation because it would have an adverse effect on the success of his already established business.

Eleven residents in the district have submitted a protest against the establishment of a dog kennel in any business for the raising of dogs, or for fur bearing animals. Aid Sidney Parsons has suggested that the matter be referred to the finance committee so that aldermen who desire to meet with the location "to determine whether or not the license for the dog kennel should be issued."

The suggestion was accepted by council.

Alternative sentence was 30 days imprisonment. Court was told that the young man ripped the lapels off a coat worn by Special Constable Sullivan during a fracas at the Scona Assembly Hall recently.

A FINE read-back performance by court reporter S. "Barney" Barrett won high praise in city police court Monday. He had just completed taking down the evidence presented by the prosecution during the hearing of a case, non-support charge against John Winters, when he was asked to read the complete record back.

Without hesitation, Barnett, who came here from Calgary recently, read-back several pages of shorthand notes flawlessly. When he had finished, Mr. Holland, prosecutor C. G. Purvis KC, congratulated him on the excellent manner in which he had completed the difficult task while W. J. Beaumont, representing the accused, commented "amazing."

SEVEN PERSONS were charged with offences under the liquor act Monday with two men being fined $20 and costs each, another two forfeiting $30 bail each when they failed to make an appearance and charges against the remaining three being adjourned until a later date.

Two elderly, grey haired brothers appeared in the dock at city court Tuesday charged with intoxication, and after pleading "not guilty" to the charges told the court that they had been suffering from an overdose of sleeping powders and not much else.

The men, Joseph and Thomas Wilkinson, both of Innisfail, said that the hotel where they were sleeping tablets and they became sleepy and confused, which resulted in them being apprehended by city police. They admitted having had some wine the same day.

Mr. Barton told the court, Mr. Miller, KC, apparently thought the men had been more potent than the sleeping tablets and fined them $20 and costs each.

BURTON CULVER was sentenced to one year's imprisonment with hard labor on a charge of shopbreaking, after pleading guilty to breaking into the King Edward service station, 99 street and Whyte avenue, on May 4.

Court was told that employees of the service station found the accused in the service station attempting to open the cash register when they returned on the evening of May 4 to find the cash register open and the cash missing.

John Hudson was sentenced to nine months imprisonment on each of two charges of theft and being in possession of stolen property. He was accused of stealing a club from a city rooming house and of being in possession of a second suitcase taken from the rooming house. He had several previous convictions against him and was released from jail just over one month ago, court was told. Sentences were ordered to be concurrent.

Ernest M. Bessette, city taxi driver, was fined $20 and costs and ordered to pay damages amounting to $12.50 when he appeared on a speeding charge. Evidence was given that the accused was driving a taxi cab on 116 street and that he went through the 107 avenue stop sign at 45 miles an hour.

Smoker to Honor Two-War Veteran

He served with the 49th Battalion, Edmonton Regiment, in the 1914-18 war and his services were again called upon by the perpetuating of the 49th Battalion. The 49th Battalion, which later became The Loyal Edmonton Regiment in the war of 1939-45. In memory of the long association the 49th Battalion, The Loyal Edmonton Regiment Association is being the host of John Smith, a member of the regiment of Wales Army on Friday night this week.

MR. SNYDER SERVED in France in the first war with the local unit, having joined up here under the leadership of the late General Grensbach, father of the regiment. He served with distinction with the regiment.

Returning to Canada at the cessation of hostilities, he remained here briefly before returning to England where he became a British subject.

In England he established and operated a very successful military laundry near Farnborough in the Garrison district of Aldershot and it was in this capacity that he came into contact with the men of the new regiment who were in barracks at Cove contiguous to Farnborough.

HIS HOME at Farnborough was open house to members of the regiment—his trucks were frequent callers at the Eddie's barracks but his association with the personnel of the regiment were broader than that of a business.

"He is anxious to meet as many members of old 'D' Company with whom he served as possible and welcomes the opportunity to meet many new friends who served in the latest war."

Westlock, Camrose Given Economists

It is a move which is being made by Hon. D. B. MacMillan Tuesday. Both Miss Whaley and Miss Rodney are graduates of the University of Alberta in home economics. The Westlock office is now open. Miss Rodney is expected to assume her new duties about June 15.

City police are looking for goldfish—eight goldfish in fact. They were stolen from a pool at the rear of W. S. Whaley's home, 1127 79 street, Monday. Investigations into the theft are continuing.

Defer Decision On Housing Units

Action on the proposal by Maxwell C. Dewar, city architect, and George A. Clash, chairman of the provincial marketing board, that 100 homes or 100 suites similar to those erected from materials brought from Dawson Creek, B.C., be constructed from materials to be salvaged from the DeWinton airport was deferred by city council Monday night.

THE CITY COMMISSIONERS were unable to decide further with the provincial government on the different aspects of the project, and asked to seek a more favorable financial arrangement for the city to lighten its burden if it is decided to proceed with the project.

It was stated that the project would cost the city approximately $200,000. City Commissioner John Hodgson told council members that an original estimate of $200,000 for each unit had been revised by City Architect Dewar, who now placed the cost of each unit at $250,000.

In their recommendation to city council, Mr. Dewar and Mr. Clash stated that the construction of the 100 additional housing units could be constructed immediately, and that the units be built as complete self-contained one and two bedroom units.

It was further recommended that the cost be shared equally between the sale to veterans outright on a nominal deposit of $500, and the balance of the cost be repaid by the veterans, carry interest, taxes and a repayment of 10 per cent on the capital cost.

FAILING ADOPTION of this proposition they recommended that council authorize the construction of 100 suites similar to those erected in the Ritchie and Parkdale South districts.

Several aldermen expressed opposition to continuing with either proposal. They said that the cost of the Dawson Creek project were far in excess of the original estimates. Commissioner Hodgson stated the estimated cost of the project had been $600,000, and it had actually cost more than $900,000.

It was pointed out that the provision of low cost housing was a Dominion government responsibility. The city did not have the revenues to provide this type of housing, and the proposal should not be considered.

ALDERMEN Sidney Parsons and Sidney Bowcott expressed opposition to the project because they proposed to build in violation of the city's building regulations. Ald. Bowcott said he was not opposed to the construction of the 100 suites similar to the Dawson Creek project.

Ald. James H. Ogilvie said there was need for the housing, and if a more advantageous financial arrangement could be made with the provincial government the plan should be proceeded with. He suggested that the commissioners consult with provincial officials on the possibility of better terms on money to be advanced by the province to erect the proposed homes. This suggestion was adopted, and the matter will be discussed again at the next meeting of council.

Old-Timer Marks His 79th Birthday

The growth in Edmonton's population from less than 400 persons at the time of the city's present-day 112,000 was among the many features of the development of this city from May, 1891, to May, 1960, recalled by Robert Turnbull, 10544 81 avenue, when he marked his 79th birthday during the weekend.

Mr. Turnbull travelled to this city in a team of oxen to become one of Edmonton's first 400 residents. He is a member of the northern Alberta Pioneers and Old-Timers' Association. Still hale and hearty, he expects to see Edmonton become the metropolis of the west.
